

The largest volcano in the solar system is on Mars. Olympus Mons stands at a height of about 13.6 miles (22 kilometers), making it nearly three times the height of Mount Everest.